A Path to Success

After numerous attempts with ACCES VR, I have decided to become a client of another employment network agency, funded through SSA Ticket to Work Program. The name of the new provider I had my ticket assigned to back in October 2024, was A Path to Success. There physical address is 2715 Terrace Drive Cedar Falls, Iowa 50613. Since they are in Iowa, I am a remote client, they are more of self-directed progress provider, where the progress has to come from the client, even though they are able to provide the necessary resources and supports only. Below is a copy of a more current email interaction I had with them. It should be noted that previous emails have been about setting aside income (ABLE vs PASS Plan), and identifying appropriate agencies and resources to help explore non-competitive employment opportunities, such as SCORE and Small Business Administration.

Initial Request (5/13/25)

Good afternoon,

I have a couple updates today. My first update is that I just got off the phone with a financial advisor from Morgan Stanley. I started explaining to him that I have a second source of income that I am concerned about it being there in the future. The income is a strategy that I have developed called micro deposit accumulation. I've explained that my process includes opening a bank account, having a voluntary debit freeze on it, and I send multiple micro deposit transactions to the account. Ever since I told him this the conversation led to him misunderstanding me, and when we got to my assets, the amount I gave him made him ultimately decide to not assist me further.

My question for you is, do you know of any further resources that I could consult, to address my concerns on the longevity of this small income or strategy. Perhaps there is any type of insurance that I could submit a claim, due to having my own business name. Maybe the unemployment agency? The small business administration office is too far away from me and too expensive to get there by Lyft. The score office is closer but I need assistance securing my income. Maybe score does have something on its website, but I need the right keywords to know what I am researching for.

Let me know,

Wilfredo Gajda

Hello Wilfredo,

Thank you for your email!

I'm not sure of specific resources that you could consult regarding this matter however I think reaching out the Small Business Administration or SCORE would be a great option as they would likely know more. If you're not able to get to your local Small Business Administration office you can use their online contact form and schedule a phone call for someone to contact you regarding your questions! I've included a link to their contact page for you below.

I hope this will be helpful!

Thank you and have a great day,
